Ekapa's is situated in Kimberley in the Northern Cape province of South Africa, near the Free State border. The largest portion (71%) of the Ekapa's properties fall within the Northern Cape, and with the Northern Cape/Free State border running through the eastern section of the mining property, a portion (29%) of the property falls in the Free State province.

Ekapa Mining is the 100% owner of Ekapa Resources and Ekapa Minerals. Ekapa Resources is the owner of the underground mining rights and Ekapa Minerals is the owner of the surface mining rights. It is operated as one entity known as Ekapa and comprises five business units, namely Joint Shaft, Wesselton, Combined Treatment Plant (CTP), Surface Mining and Services and Support.

Ekapa is both a tailings mineral resource reclamation operation and an underground mining operation with two operational shafts.
